Let's Talk About It... The Undecided/ New Voter

By Yvette Tello

The 2018 midterm elections are revealing a record amount of new voter registrations. Also, in elections across the country, there seems to be a large volume of undecided voters. What advice in general would you give a new voter? an undecided voter? Let's talk about it....

Patrick Southard:

"I would say, don't vote Democrat or Republican. Look at the candidates and see which one supports the most of your ideals. Abortion, gun rights, healthcare, freedom of speech, etc. That should be the candidate you vote for. I'm so sick of smear campaigns."

Mary Svetlik Watkins:

"I had a mixed ballot this year. I vote based on my ideals and morals. Research your candidates."

Vicky Ward: "If you don't vote, you won't have a sav."

Judy Gomez: "Your vote makes a difference. Be knowledgeable of your candidates."

Emily Hoop: "It is your right, privilege, and duty to vote. I bring my kids every year with me so they will learn this. I was on one ticket and my husband was on another. I noticed that they separated the parties when voting. Is this a coincidence?"

DAILY NEWS

This column will highlight inspiring stories of Latino leaders. For more than 500 years, Latino men and women have positively influenced the face of United States society. Let us celebrate these outstanding hispanics.

By Leonard Rodriguez

Born in San Antonio, Texas, in 1916, Henry B. Gonzalez was barred from restaurants reserved for the anglo community. After earning his law degree, he entered politics in the '50s. Elected to the San Antonio City Council in 1953, Gonzalez put an end to segregation in city facilities. In 1956, he was elected to the Texas Senate, and went on to become the first Texan of Mexican ancestry to serve in U.S. Congress. A man of the people, an outspoken advocate of equal rights for minorities and one of great filibusters in U.S. history. Gonzalez twice held the senate floor for more than 20 hours, rallying against bills that would increase racial segregation.

About the Cover Artist:Ricardo Duardo

By Dr. Ricardo Romo

Ricardo Duardo (1952-2014) grew up in East Los Angeles and became an artist in the early 1970s just as Chicano art was emerging. At age 28 he enhanced his commitment to Chicano art with the founding of his first print studio, Hecho en Atzlan. He excelled in painting and print making, mentoring and working with hundreds of Latino artists in his highly acclaimed Eastside print studio, Modern Multiples. Shortly after his death in 2014, the McNay Museum in San Antonio honored him with a solo art exhibit of Pop Art. His paintings at the McNay featured many pop art images, including Marlon Brando, Pablo Picasso, Billy Holiday and Elvis Presley.

The Importance of Undecided and Independent Voters

By Ricardo Romo

In the past few decades the undecided and independent voters have proved a significant force, often the tipping point in critical presidential elections. In the presidential election of 2000, the independent voters secured an electoral college victory for George W. Bush over Al Gore. In the most recent presidential election of 2016, the undecided voters came through for Donald Trump over Hillary R. Clinton in key electoral states.

This year's state and local elections are as important as ever, and the congressional midterm elections across America are especially significant. Does that mean that most registered voters are going to the polls to vote? Not necessarily. The voter group to watch—and those who could make a crucial difference—are the undecided and independent voters.

The undecided voters pose special problems for pollsters and get-out-the-vote groups. Many of these voters will not decide until the last week for whom they will vote. Just who are these voters? In the last two presidential elections they were identified as younger—age 34 and under, moderates, and less educated than other voters.

Over the past few months the media has flooded voters with thousands of political ads. Despite all the political propaganda and mailings, these approaches seem to make little difference to the undecided voters. These voters are not politically engaged and in some cases are turned off by politics.

Studies show that undecided voters generally have the least information about the candidates compared with other voters and thus many might stay away from the polls. Chris Cilliza noted in the Washington Post: "Because so many of those undecided are low information voters, crafting a message that works is next to impossible."

Nate Cohn of the New York Times wrote that among undecided voters, more than half—56 percent of them— don't know either candidate. In contrast, more than 83 percent of the decided voters know the candidates and what they stand for. Cohn added that in the Sun Belt districts, "Hispanic voters make up 35 percent of the undecided voters, compared with 25 percent of those who are decided."

Political analyst Dylan Scott of VOX noted that, "This year's undecided voters are more moderate and conservative. Scott concluded: "Demographically the undecided voters this year are not highly educated, and probably don't identify with one party or the other."

In 23rd Congressional District race, the undecided vote could make a difference. This district is one of the largest congressional districts in America with an estimated 150,000 voters. The election pits the incumbent Republican Will Hurd against the political newcomer, Democrat Gina Ortiz Jones.

In a Siena College Poll of this race, the 23rd Congressional District, the New York Times reported survey results from early September, 2018 that demonstrated that "About 7 percent of voters said that they were undecided or refused to tell us whom they would vote for. On questions about issues, these voters most closely resembled Democrats."

We don't know what motivates undecided voters to show up at the polls, and the voting behavior of independents is almost as hard to determine. In a recent article titled "Independents Will Determine the Midterm Elections," John Tantillo wrote "... the political landscape has changed and both Democrats and Republicans are now the minority parties, and it's the Independents who rule."

The evidence for this political shift is in a recent Gallup poll which showed that "most voters are neither Democrats nor Republicans. They are Independents." As of last month, Independents comprised 44 percent of the electorate, Democrats 27 percent, and Republicans 26 percent." (Gallup Poll)

The strength of the independent voters varies across the nation. Nowhere are they more visible than in California where they are nearly five million strong. California registered 19 million voters this year with Democrats constituting a large majority with 44.6 percent, Republicans with 25.4 percent, and "no party preference" (independents) at 24.9 percent.

With only a week to go before the midterm elections and many of the races extremely tight, it is no time to take any one group of voters for granted. The expectation is that the undecided and independent voters will play an important role in this election and in the 2020 presidential race. We will see. But no matter what party you are affiliated with, get informed about the issues, and—be sure to vote!

C.W.L.S.

Board Certified- Child Welfare Law Specialist, National Association of Counsel For Children, as authorized by the American Bar Association and the Texas Board of Legal Specialization. Born and bred in Brownsville, Texas, Gonzalez has lived in San Antonio for over 30 years. She attended St. Mary's University where she earned her Bachelor of Arts in Political Science and later her law degree.

Gonzalez has a family law practice and is a graduate of the Women's Campaign School at Yale University. She has a long established history of coordinating campaigns and consulting for women candidates.

By Rosie Speedlin-Gonzalez

Her name was Beatrice Rodriguez Garcia. My 'Buelita. She was one of six children born to Mama Lola. Her brothers were Macario, Vicente and Tirco, Her sisters were Rosa and Maria, my namesakes. As my Mom would tell it, 'Buelita was the only child of the six who was legitimized by their father. You see . . . their father had another family in town.

Mama Lola was his mistress. Mom wasn't real clear on why 'Buelita was the only one he legitimized, but he seemed to favor her, get her gifts, take her with him into town, and had the most interaction with her out of all his children with Mama Lola. Mama Lola lived alone with her children out in el rancho, close to El Calaboz. She was known to have a wild streak and Mom would tell the story of how Mama Lola liked to ride horseback. often with as little clothing on as possible. Mama Lola also had the custom of lighting Menorahs around her house at certain times of the year and couldn't really say why she did it only that it was always done that way and that's how she was brought up to do things. 'Buelita was the only person I ever knew that was born in the 19th century, 1899 to be exact. She passed in 1969, but I still have vivid memories of my grandma, as if I had just lived them yesterday. She wore her hair in a bun or thick braid, pulled back tight with "peinetas". It was the type of hair uncommon for people of indigenous heritage, it was wavy, but a more tight wave, like the hair one would see in people of Persian descent. Her skin was olive tone "y tenia ojos castanos y claros." She married Samuel, my grandfather, at a young age and gave birth to Romeo, Samuel, Araceli and Alicia, my Mom. Although 49 years have passed since 'Buelita left us, I can still remember the weekends when she and Grandpa would pick me up in their white Dodge Dart. It was a 2 door, with red interior and a black top. I would sit between them and every time Grandpa would speed room through the archway, which I loved to run under because over it hung beaded curtains. I would run from her bedroom into the kitchen where she cooked. I can still see the painting over her bed of Jesus praying in the moonlight on the eve before his crucifixion. I can't forget the aroma of the corn tortillas she cooked on the comal.

up 'Buelita would shout out, "Ooooooooooo!" I think she did it just to watch me giggle and laugh with joy. I can still smell 'Buelita's scent which was a combination of Tres Flores Brillantina in her hair and Tres Caritas Crema on her face. She used to like to wear a navy, blue dress with tiny white polka dots and a lace collar. On those weekends I spent at the beach or el rancho with her, I followed her everywhere. From her living

Saturday nights consisted of her neighbor, Rafaelito, coming over to hang out (I loved Rafaelito. He was young and handsome, and looked like one of The Beatles) and later 'Buelita filling la tina with warm water from the olla on the stove, then 'Buelita would have me stand in it and pour cups of warm water over me with a tin cup and bathe me. The day she passed and the days that followed still bring a lump to my throat. I remember standing in the hallway watching my Mom as she answered the phone. It was a call from the hospital where 'Buelita had been staying. I watched my Mom as she leaned forward and then shrunk into the chair next to the phone and began to cry like I have never seen her cry since. Lolita, our maid, came over to me, picked me up and took me outside. Over the next few days, many people came in and out of the house, uncles, cousins, relatives, friends. I was only about 4 years old but remember being held back near la carroza at the funeral home because I wanted to see my 'Buelita but no one would let me get close to the grown ups. Daddy held me in his arms as I fought him, kicked him and asked him to let me go and put me down. He didn't. He just held me tight, reassuring me that everything would be alright and that the grown-ups would take care of everything. I never got the chance to say good-bye to my 'Buelita and to this very day miss her dearly. She was the only grandmother I ever knew. She was my first playmate. my first best friend She loved me. My 'Buelita's love was oh so special and everlasting, so strong I can still feel her love and presence in my life to this very day. I will always miss her.

What is Your Risk for Breast Cancer?

By Dr. Palafox

1. Does anyone in your family have breast cancer? When answering this question, please consider your mami and your papi's side of the family, abuelitos y abuelitas, tios, tias and adult primos. It is also important to know how old they were when they were diagnosed. If there are more than two family members with breast cancer, especially on the same side of the family, this may mean a higher risk of breast cancer for you.

- 2. How old were you with your first baby? Women who have never had children, or who had their child after the age of 35 have a slightly higher risk of breast cancer.
- 3. How much do you weigh? I will not tell you how much I weigh, but I put myself in the category of gordita. Those you who are like me are also at a slightly higher risk of breast cancer. We store and produce hormones in our fat, so the extra hormone puts us at higher risk. The good news is, we are in control of this risk! All we have to do is lose weight! No more Oscar's Puffy Tacos...

- 4. Are there any other cancers in your family? Does anyone have uterine, ovarian, colon, pancreatic or prostate cancer? These cancers may also may you higher risk for breast cancer-it's a genetic thing.
- 5. Do you have chi-chis? The bottom line is this:we are women and breast cancer is the most common type of cancer we get. Any woman can get breast cancer, even if you didn't answer yes to any of the above questions.

One in eight of us will get breast cancer at some point in our lives; mammogram can find a breast cancer when it so small you can't feel it. As Mexican-American women, our risk for being diagnosed with breast cancer at a later stage--there are probably lots of reasons for that. Let's change that by knowing what our risk is and changing those things we can change, like our gordita status and getting mammograms.

LOWER APPROVED TAXES

VOTE BY

CITIZENS

Paid Political Advertisement

Giving you the power to veto unjustified tax increases, fee increases, and zoning changes.

Voters, if they choose, will make the ultimate decision on the most important issues. Citizens will have the chance to make a change by collecting 20,000 signatures and earning majority support in the election. This is still a difficult standard to meet to call an election, but provides a good check and balance when political leaders make a serious mistake.

Capping the City Manager's out-of-control salary and term of office.

San Antonio City Manager pay has grown completely out-of-control in recent years. We pay more in this position than any City in America. Nobody else is even close. Our City Manager now makes more than the U.S. President and Texas Governor combined. In the past 5 years, she has received more total dollars in raises than the 1,500 San Antonio Fire Fighters combined.

Under Prop B, City Manager pay will be pegged at 10 times the lowest salaried City employee. Right now, that's still a total of $290,000. That would keep San Antonio City Manager pay competitive but limit the growth. The Proposition will also set a term limit of 8 years for the position.

Resolving the City's 5-year stall on the firefighter fair pay contract

While the City managed to quickly sign a world record-breaking pay contract with the City Manager in a matter of days, they have taken an incredible 5 years to complete a simple pay contract with firefighters. Prop C would push the city and firefighters into binding arbitration – so a fair resolution can finally be achieved. This is an inexpensive way to end disputes quickly and fairly without expensive lawsuits.

WHY DO SPECIAL INTERESTS OPPOSE REFORM?

A well-funded effort against reform has been launched by supporters of the status quo. The anti-group is mostly funded by developers and other folks with business before the City Manager. Special interests trying to curry favor with the City Manager by opposing a cap on her pay further emphasizes the current problems with the city and explains how we got so far off-track.
