La Prensa Texas

This grass roots publication is the life source for a community that is not easily afforded viable access to diverse and accessible media. San Antonio and the surrounding counties have become accustomed to relevant news brought to them in both English and Spanish since 1913.

Let's Talk About It A Historic Forum on the South Side!

By Yvette Tello

Last night, the Mayor Forum on the South Side of San Antonio made history with an impressive turnout of over 150 attendees and 16 candidates participating! This event marked a significant moment for our community, showcasing the engagement and enthusiasm of residents eager to learn about the candidates vying for their votes. A special thank you to our sponsors and to Generations Credit Union, Harlandale-McCollum Neighborhood Association, Live from the Southside, Univision, Tandem, SVREP, and Fernanda Cardenas for partnering with La Prensa Texas in making this event possible. Your efforts in bringing this forum to life are greatly appreciated! With only three questions posed, the format allowed for focused discussions. It was intriguing to hear the different perspectives and solutions each candidate offered. For those who attended, what stood out the most? What was the best answer you heard, and conversely, what was the worst? Additionally, we'd love to know who your favorite candidate was and who you felt least aligned with. Did you find the forum informative?

Jeff Hull: "In the end they never stick to promises and commitments. We have a mayor now who is attracted to shiny Fiesta medals and multi-billion dollar investors. As a Resident Council President I addressed City Council and emailed the mayor at least 15 times requesting his attention and to meet with me and LULAC Zapatista Council members. In 3 years I got one response and zero follow through. Same with District 1 representatives. They don't care about the issues that affect the community directly. If you live under the poverty level. You aren't even on the radar. The city spends more money on development and attracting investors than it does for those of us needing their attention. I share this from first hand experience regarding the neglect of thousands of seniors, Veterans and disabled individuals. As a Resident Council President I have had our Mayor look me straight in the eyes and then just simply turn his back on me and walk off without even hearing what I needed to ask him. They are all like the vast majority of politicians. They want your attention and votes when the time comes. The rest of the time you're lucky if you get a full 3 minutes to address issues with them at the Council Chamber. The city is growing so fast and many citizens are being left in the dust. Man! I could go on and on but it will never make a difference. They only care when they want my vote."

Kenneth Raymond: "Dr. Tim Westley has my VOTE! He is someone who knows San Antonio and is a very smart and educated family man and will put San Antonians first and will get things done without breaking the laws and our budget!"

Lisa Coleman: "Here is my take away from last night regarding my experience with one of the candidates and her staff member: To Jordan Abelson — You're in TEXAS now, this ain't Montana. Let's talk about the law: Tex. Penal Code Ann. § 21.15 does not criminalize recording in areas where the public has access and there's no reasonable expectation of privacy—like public streets, hotel lobbies, or yes, a public auditorium. Last night at the Palo Alto College Mayoral Forum, I was approached in an aggressive and confrontational manner by Jordan Abelson, the Communications Director for mayoral candidate Gina Ortiz Jones. One of our hermanitas was excited to ask Gina a question and I was proud to capture that moment on video. Jordan—without introducing herself—got within inches of my face and accused me of breaking consent laws by filming, demanding I stop immediately. Though I knew the law was on my side, I chose to stop filming to avoid escalating the situation in front of our young leaders, who were visibly shaken and confused by the interaction. Here's the kicker: we were in the auditorium after the forum, surrounded by people recording videos and taking selfies with candidates. To Gina Ortiz Jones: You were in my top three choices going into this forum. But your silence during that moment spoke volumes. True leadership includes protecting and advocating for community members—especially when they're being disrespected in front of the very youth we're working hard to empower. To Jordan: Please take time to understand Texas law before approaching community members with baseless accusations and intimidation. We expect more from those who represent our future leaders."

RS Gonzalez: "I've attended several. From what I've observed: one is always prepared, a couple think they can buy the mayor's seat, one lacks enthusiasm, another is child-like, two just need to sit down, another is very dramatic . . . the remaining field just threw their name on the ballot."

Richard Cortez: "It really doesn't matter at this point. New blood is what's really needed, no coddling or woke ideas. What is needed is someone that's not or hasn't been in politics that actually wants to bring the city together not divide like it's been the past 15/20 years, just my opinion."

Rob Gonzales: "I believe the difficulty in selecting a mayor and sitting in on these forums is due to the amount of people running. When a candidate only has 2-3 mins to answer a question, you get inauthentic answers. I have been to two forums and I am really undecided at this point. They are all saying the same thing: safety, economic growth, affordable housing. And none of them have rolled out an actual plan. The devil is in the details."

Hector Sanchez: "I wish today's politicians would practice and demonstrate the simplicity of KISS: Keep It Simple Stupid. I hope the field narrows because having this many candidates kind of makes it confusing and after a while it sounds all the same."

Herb Rockman: "It's a little overwhelming with all the candidates, but the run offs will narrow the choices."

Penelope Perez: "It is exciting to have new blood on the ballot, but I also question many of these newcomer's ability to fill major administrative roles within the city. The mayor sits on the board for SAWS and makes really important infrastructure decisions. There are many more boards the mayor is responsible for and you have to have some context on these processes to succeed. I don't want to vote for someone who will be on a long learning curve, experienced council people are more attractive to me because they have already been part of this process and understand the role beyond the press releases."

Happy Easter/Felices Pascuas!

By J. Gilberto Quezada

If the whole world were covered with asphalt, one day a crack would appear in the asphalt, and, in that crack, grass would grow. Let the joys of Easter and our renewal in a rebirth of our souls remind us of the thin blade of grass that will grow, regardless of the obstacles, if given an opportunity by our Lord Jesus Christ to do so. For in our everyday living, it is the soul which must prevail, or life has no more meaning than a gutter full of scum and algae. And let's make an effort as we go on our own journey in life that each day from now on will be a celebration of life, for us and our loved ones, and we should always thank God for the abundance of blessings, favors, and graces which He has bestowed upon us.

En esta hermosa celebración de Pascua, nos reunimos para recordar y celebrar el milagro de la resurrección de nuestro Salvador, Jesucristo. Es un tiempo de esperanza, de renovación y de profunda gratitud por el amor infinito de Dios, que nos guía y fortalece en cada etapa de nuestras vidas. Que la luz del Señor resucitado ilumine nuestros corazones y nos inspire a vivir con fe, amor y alegría. ¡Felices Pascuas! Que esta Pascua sea un momento de unión, paz y bendiciones para ti y tus seres queridos.

So, let's rejoice, celebrate, and thank God for our belief in the Resurrection of our Lord--"I am the resurrection and the life; he who believes in me, even if he die, shall live; And whoever lives and believes in me shall never die." For Good Friday is the day on which the Son of Man was entombed but on Easter Sunday the Son of God emerged from the sepulcher. You know that the real suffering of our Savior Jesus Christ did not begin until He was taken down from the cross.

We need to accept Him in our midst once again; otherwise, the crises of our Judeo-Christian heritage will continue to exist to the degree in which we are indifferent to God. If we remember our world history, we know that it is cluttered with the wreckage of nations that became indifferent to God and died. And if you read the Apostles closely, I think you will see that no one was more surprised than they were. They discovered that after all there is a God and that they had not been following just another rabbi. So, this Easter, let us renew our baptismal vows and our faith in Almighty God, and let us also firmly believe that as we get older, we must continue to grow intellectually, morally, and spiritually, and be fully alive; it is a daily learning process of how to live more intensely.

As we celebrate Easter Sunday, I do hope the following Irish blessing will bring a smile to our faces, peace to our hearts, and a refreshing breath of life to our souls and not only on Easter Sunday but every day of our lives:

"May you always have a sunbeam to warm you
Good friends to charm you
And a sheltering angel, so
nothing can harm you
Laughter to cheer you
Faithful friends near you
And whenever you pray,
Heaven to hear you."

En esta hermosa celebración de Pascua, quiero desearles a todos una infinita felicidad y bendiciones. Que la luz del Señor resucitado ilumine sus vidas y les otorgue fortaleza, fe y amor en cada paso del camino. Recordemos con alegría y gratitud el milagro de la resurrección de nuestro Salvador, Jesucristo, quien nos da la esperanza de una vida eterna llena de paz y gozo. Que su sacrificio y su triunfo nos inspiren a ser mejores cada día, cultivando la bondad y la generosidad en nuestros corazones. ¡Felices Pascuas, queridos amigos, y que la gloria de Dios siempre nos acompañe!

May you have a Happy and Blessed Easter/ Felices Pascuas!

Latina CEO Adriana Quiñones Has Big Plans for an

By Dr. Ricardo Romo

In December 2024 Adriana Quiñones left her post as CEO of the Columbus Botanical Garden in Georgia to head up the new San Antonio Arboretum. As a 200 acre green space development, the Arboretum will give San Antonio added amenities as the city continues its quest as one of America's great cities. The Arboretum is the brainchild of former mayor and HUD Secretary, Henry Cisneros. Under Mayor Cisneros, San Antonio received the prestigious All-America City Award in 1982–83 from the National Civic League. Quiñones and Cisneros hope that San Antonio, a major tourist destination city known for its UNESCO Cultural Heritage missions, the Alamo, and the Riverwalk, will soon receive similar recognition for hosting Texas's finest arboretum.

This project began three years ago when Cisneros invited a large gathering of San Antonio civic leaders to discuss an arboretum project. Arboretums, he explained at that meeting, which I attended, are a special category of park featuring trees that grow in a region. Texas has more than 250 native species of trees, and San Antonio is rich in tree quantity, quality, and diversity. Cisneros envisions the new arboretum in the city's Southside that will invite admiration, study, and peacefulness. The recent acquisition of 200 acres of the former Republic Golf Course consists of rolling land, 300 year old trees, and a watershed from the Salado Creek. Adriana Quiñones has been tasked with transforming the former Republic Golf Course into a "living museum" dedicated, according to Cisneros, to the conservation, education, and celebration of native and adapted trees and shrubs of South Texas.

Adriana Quiñones is a prominent figure in the field of public horticulture and botanical garden management, with connections to both Ohio and Georgia. Quiñones first learned about public horticulture from her volunteer work as a teen at the Dawes Arboretum in Newark, Ohio. Born and raised in Lancaster, Ohio, to a Puerto Rican family, she has built an extensive career in public gardens across the United States. She holds both a Bachelor of Science degree in Landscape Horticulture (summa cum laude) and a Master of Science degree in Plant Molecular Genetics from Ohio State University.

Ohio State University recognized her undergraduate research in rosebuds and awarded her a graduate fellowship in Plant Molecular Genetics. She excelled in her graduate studies. During her time at the university, she continued to work at the university arboretum as a curator and plant record specialist. She became part of the horticulture faculty teaching plant biology, plant identification, and introductory horticulture to undergraduate and graduate students. Her strongest attributes have been to increase educational programing and strengthen partnerships with other community organizations. Among the community partners that Quiñones found when she arrived in San Antonio was Brooks Development Authority led by CEO and President Leo Gomez.

With an initial funding of seven million dollars from the Bexar County Commissioners the Cisneros team acquired the golf course three years ago. The Brooks Development Authority also contributed $1,000,000 to the development of the Arboretum. Gomez oversees strategic planning, economic development, and initiatives like Brooks Gives Back, a philanthropic arm focused on community impact. Over the past decade, Gomez has overseen the transformation of the 1,308-acre former Air Force base into a hub with over 50 businesses and $1.3 billion in investments. The former Brooks Air Force Base, a neighbor to the Arboretum, is a thriving mixed-use community. Gomez anticipates that the 3,300+ employees at Brooks will enjoy the beautiful outdoor space at the Arboretum.

The 200 acre site will be the first in South Texas and the second largest in the Lone Star state after the Arboretum along Cypress Creek in Humble near Harris County. Henry and Mary Alice Cisneros hosted a picnic for a small gathering of friends at the Arboretum last week. The Cisneros family organized a golf cart tour for Harriett and me, Lionel and Kathy Sosa, Charles and Melisa Barrett, and the new Arboretum CEO, Adriana Quinones. The site already boasts over 30 species of trees, heritage oak trees, a rustic bridge over Salado Creek, a recycled water pond, and more than four miles of existing paved trails.

In the coming year, CEO Adriana Quiñones will be working on site and meeting with local community leaders to discuss the proposed Arboretum features and planned amenities including walking and biking trails, educational facilities and classrooms, tree plant collections, a city-based tree nursery, community gardens, tree houses and canopy walks, and play areas. Cisneros explained to the SA Report, “The effect of a properly designed and well-maintained arboretum is to create a special space amid nature, touched by sun rays and breezes, comforted by shade and living colors.” San Antonio is known for its green space. Access to water, green space, and friendly natives attracted the first Spaniards to the area they named San Antonio de Valero. These intrepid Espanoles under the leadership of Governor Domingo Terán de los Ríos arrived in 1718 at a spring-fed area along a creek and river, which Indigenous people called Yanaguana. Cisneros has read widely on the exploration and settlement of San Antonio noting that Native American Indigenous people selected campsites in the shade of San Antonio’s cypress and pecan trees. Spanish explorers noted in their journals an amazement in finding an oasis of water and trees that led to the building of five missions in the area. The site of the San Antonio Arboretum is fortunate to have the Salado Creek running through it. The creek provides water for numerous different trees along its banks and the large trees provide welcome shade along the walking and hiking paths in the Arboretum.

The Arboretum is expected to raise the profile of the city. The green space is located in the city’s Southeast Side [zip code 78222]. According to the US Census, the area has a population of nearly 25,000, with nearly two-thirds of the residents [64 percent] reporting Hispanic background. While the medium income of residents of the area is $64,251, the per capita income is only $34,336. An average home sells for $176, 477 which makes home ownership possible for many southsiders and promotes pride in local neighborhoods. With the expansion of Texas A&M San Antonio nearby, the area’s college completion level, which is presently about 17 percent, is expected to rise over the coming decade.

Cisneros has been asked by many if the Arboretum would be primarily a facility for community activities or more like a traditional park. Some visitors have expressed a desire to leave the area wild, consisting primarily of hiking paths and trails. Finally, the Arboretum also offers the possibility of an open green-space research laboratory where visitors and scholars can learn more about native Texas plants and trees. All three ideas are intriguing, and we look forward to seeing what develops in the near future.

Connecting Beyond: An Interview with Travis Holp, Medium and Comedian

Interview by Yvette Tello

Brazen House- Melissa
Stone

As the vibrant city of San Antonio prepares for an extraordinary evening of laughter, connection, and healing, we had the pleasure of sitting down with the talented medium, psychic and comedian Travis Holp. Known for his unique blend of comedy and mediumship, Travis invites everyone—believers and skeptics alike—into a realm where communication with the departed is not only possible but also deeply transformative.

Q: Travis, you're set to perform in San Antonio on April 24 2025. What can attendees expect from this interactive comedy reading?

Travis: I'm so excited about this show! It's not just about connecting with loved ones who have passed; it's about creating a fun, uplifting atmosphere where everyone feels included. I believe humor is a powerful tool for healing. When we laugh, we open our hearts, and that's when the magic happens. Expect a night filled with laughter, love, and maybe a few tears. It's all part of the experience.

Q: Your unique approach combines mediumship with comedy. How did you find this blend?

Travis: Honestly, it was a natural evolution for me. I've always had a knack for making people laugh, and as I began to embrace my mediumship abilities, I noticed that humor helped ease the tension that often comes with grief. People are curious and a bit nervous about connecting with the other side, so I use comedy to break down those walls. Plus, I find that the spirits have a great sense of humor too!

Q: Can you share a memorable experience you've had during a reading?

Travis: Absolutely! One memorable reading was with a client who wanted to connect with her mother, who had passed away many years ago. I was able to describe her mother's jewelry and her vibrant personality. She was a fiery woman who visited her daughter at 3 AM! We even talked about shared memories—like the grapefruits they used to enjoy together. It's moments like these that remind us that our loved ones are always with us, cheering us on.

Q: You've mentioned that you bring a lot of your personal experiences into your work. How does your journey influence your readings?

Travis: *My life has been filled with challenges and trauma, and I think that resonates with many people. I've learned that laughter can be a great healer. When I share my own stories, it creates a connection with the audience. They see that I understand their pain and that it's okay to laugh amidst the grief. It's about finding joy in the journey, no matter how difficult it can be.

Q: For those who may be skeptical or unsure about mediumship, what would you say to them?

Travis: I say come with an open heart and mind. You don't have to believe in anything to enjoy the show. It's about the experience and the connections we make.

Even if you don't receive a personal message, you'll witness the beauty of love that transcends this world. The energy in the room is palpable, and I guarantee you'll leave feeling uplifted.

Q: What do you Holp attendees take away from your show?

Travis: I want everyone to feel a sense of connection, whether it's with their loved ones or with each other. Life can be heavy, but it's also full of joy and laughter. I Holp people leave with a renewed sense of Holp and the understanding that love never truly dies.

As Travis gears up for his performance in San Antonio, it's clear that his unique blend of humor and heartfelt connection offers a space for healing and joy. Whether you're a believer or simply curious, this event promises to be an unforgettable experience. Don't miss out on the chance to connect, laugh, and perhaps even heal a little. Join Travis Holp on April 24th at Thu Apr 24 2025 7:30 PM (Doors 6:30 PM) Laugh Out Loud Comedy Club 618 NW Loop 410 San Antonio, TX 78216 for a night that promises to be filled with love, laughter, and the magic of mediumship. For tickets - <https://www.ticketweb.com/event/travis-holp-the-dead-serious-laugh-out-loud-comedy-club-tickets>

Sergio Treviño De Softball Kings Realizó Espectacular Triple Play

Por Sendero Deportivo

Sergio Treviño, lanzador estelar y jugador de cuadro del trabuco Softball Kings, que dirigen los jugadores y patrocinadores Héctor Garza “Papo”, y John Santos, en el circuito de Kennedy Softball Slowpitch League, tras haber celebrado la primera victoria de la doble jornada con nocaout por carreraje ha favor luego en el segundo partido destacó jugando gran defensiva y ofensiva.

El mismo en el segundo partido destacó defendiendo el pitcheo de Papo Garza, quien con su vasta experiencia y talento en el bateo logró aportar el plus que a la par los encaminó a un buen resultado por alta pizarra.

Sergio Treviño, durante el segundo partido no estuvo al cien por ciento de lo que es su rendimiento. Tras varias inconsistencias en el campo corto y desafines contra el equipo rival. Treviño, comenzó su plan de juego y con orgullo sacó la casta realizando varias atrapadas y bateando oportunamente para producir anotaciones que los perfiló rumbo al nocaout por alto marcador a favor.

Sergio cerró el partido ejecutando un espectacular y claro triple play con corredores rivales anclados en segunda base y la inicial. Logró atrapar contundente línea, para un out, piso la almohadilla intermedia y con súper veloz disparo doblo a la inicial consumado el tercer out, convirtiendo una inesperada jugada en el triunfo de Softball Kings.

Los directivos Garza y Santos, activaron al jugador honorario Franco de La Prensa Texas, para hacer su debut como coach de la primera base. Lo cual él agradeció y dijo que ese emotivo gesto lo seguirá fortaleciendo en su aún programa de recuperación por extracción de la próstata con cancer, del cual ya se encuentra sano.

“Traía ganas de poder responder ofensivamente en favor de Softball Kings, los contrarios estuvieron molestando con sus opiniones. Sin embargo todos respondimos favorablemente y lo mejor que logré cerrar el partido con esa triple jugada. Contentos y por supuesto vamos a seguir adelante la temporada es larga”, dijo Treviño.
